

This Song Is For You (Hugh's Song)

©Tim Harrison And Second Avenue Songs 1999

Everything is broken
But the clouds in the sky
The universe collapsed
Into the mind's eye
Nothing is the same
Since you left us that day
And nothing's felt right
Since it turned out that way

Chorus:

And there's not much left now that you're gone
There's not much to say except we're trying to move on
And all we can do is to sing another song
The world spins and we must travel on

Another too long month
With too little pay
A head full of words
With nothing to say
But you could charm unruly spirits
With a story or two
I could feel the effect
But I never saw the moves

Now you're flying with angels
And given the devil what's true
I bet you rocked Chiron's boat
Just to see what he would do
And here's to the times
That we all sang along
We wanted one for you
So we wrote down this song
