

Not Done Yet

©Tim Harrison and Second Avenue Songs 1976

Come on in, the fire's bright,
Shut the door and light the light
Sit down and listen to an old man's song,
But who can call 20 years old?

CHORUS:

And we're not done yet,
There's more to come you can bet,
There's a song left to be sung...to someone,
To me.

Travelin' down an empty road,
You see the signs before they show,
But who can believe what the poet conceives,
Just turn back and move on with the blow.

CHORUS

See the city, shining bright,
On up ahead you can see the light,
Not scared of shadows and you feel no fear,
As you jump inside your favourite atmosphere.
