

We Just Fall

©Tim Harrison and Second Avenue Songs 2016

I spent the night, sittin' at the bar,
Trying not to look at you.
And I felt a rush, when I saw you blush,
And knew that you were lookin' too.

How does it go, this impossible dream,
Why do a million voices call?
Chances are likely that I won't take this lightly,
So I guess I'll just fall.

To Hell with it all, I'll just fall.
To Hell with it all, I'll just fall.

Her smile lights up corners I'd forgotten about,
In a heart that had grown cold over time.
And the look in her eyes, is like the open skies,
A picture I just can't get off my mind.

To Hell with it all, I'll just fall.
To Hell with it all, I'll just fall

How does it go this impossible dream?
Why do a million voices call?
Chances are likely that we won't take this lightly,
So I guess we'll just fall.

To Hell with it all, we'll just fall.
To Hell with it all, we'll just fall.
To Hell with it all....